

HUEY IS GIVEN DICTATOR RULE BY LEGISLATURE

Fights Marked Night
Session of Louisiana Assembly.

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Huey P. Long machine today held the broadest powers of military and political control ever conferred on a single faction in Louisiana.

The Louisiana legislature handed over the powers to Senator Long in the early hours today amidst a welter of parliamentary confusion, marked by exclusion of newspaper representatives from the House, brawls in the lobby, fist fights in the floor and arrests in various parts of the state house.

Uproar and disorder such as has seldom been witnessed in Louisiana's always tumultuous legislature filled the closing hours of the assembly which Long called to enact legislation broadening his powers over elections, the courts, the National Guard and the local city and parish governments throughout the state.

Officers Everywhere
Squads of state highway policemen and the state bureau of criminal investigation officers in plain clothes swarmed through the state house throughout the night as House and Senate rushed through the Long-endorsed measures in an after midnight session.

The legislature adjourned at 3:11 A. M., and a few minutes later, political dictator Long was escorted by 20 bodyguards down three flights of stairs to a private door in the capitol basement where he entered his limousine to be whisked away to a downtown hotel.

The Senate's party attempted to take an elevator but finding it would not get into one lift, took the stairs instead.

In the closing hours of the assembly, after the House had voted to put newspaper representatives outside the doors, Leon Trice, newspaper photographer, attempted to snap Senator Long's picture and was slugged and knocked down a flight of stairs, sustaining a painful injury "to the left side of his head."

As reporters went to his rescue, his photo plates were seized and carried away.

His assailant went unidentified.

Foes Powerless
Exclusion of the press from the House chamber followed another of a long series of floor fights over Senator Long's activity in the House. The anti-administration bloc was powerless to combat the Long-proposed legislation, but easily mustered the necessary ten votes to invoke an anti-lobbying rule to exclude Long from the floor.

When the Senator again came into the House, Lester of West Feliciana immediately moved for a full invoking of the rule and there was an answering shout that the exclusions rule be made to apply to the press also.

The question was carried and Speaker Allen J. Ellender directed news reporters to retire from the chamber with all spectators.

Vigorously protesting the action, Arthur Provost of Iberia, one of the administration floor leaders, arose and shouted:

"This is childish. I will not be a party to this. I am going to leave this House and I won't come back until the rule has been amended to permit the press to remain."

Both Senator Long and Gov. O. K. Allen, Ellender Provost, at the door, entreating him to return. Provost refused, saying in a loud voice:

"This is the most asinine thing I ever heard of."

It was while Senator Long was demanding Provost's return to the House that Trice attempted to snap the picture of the two and was slugged from behind.

News men were able to follow proceedings roughly from a gallery.

Fist Fight Started
A fist fight started in the House when dispute arose over the action of Rep. Rupert Peyton of Caddo, a newspaperman by profession, in walking down to the press table and announcing he would take down the proceedings "and protect all the reporters on the outside."

Several administrationist objected violently and a crowd formed about Peyton. As the crowd melted about in the center aisle, Rep. Joe Hamiter of Caddo, anti-administration leader, and Rep. George W. Lee, administration follower, came out of the melee swinging. Sergeants at arms and fellow members finally broke up the set-to.

Wheat Conference
Failed to Agree
on Export Quotas

London, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The world wheat conference failed to agree today on export quotas but, as was expected, officially accepted 800,000,000 bushels as the estimated world demand during the crop year beginning this month.

The conference also agreed that this figure might be increased in view of the world wide shortage of animal feed and the possibilities of using a considerable amount of wheat stocks for feed purposes.

The representatives of the United States, Argentina, Canada and Australia admitted failure in their attempts to agree on the 1934-35 export quotas.

The collapse was made known when representatives made a report before the full international wheat commission.

Pretty San Diego Girl Murdered and Attacked; Body Found in Back Yard of Home; Fifth Crime of Kind

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Choked to death in what police said was a fiendish murder, the body of pretty 16-year-old Celia Cota was found in the back yard of her home today. She had been the victim of a criminal attack, police said.

The father, Edward Cota, San Diego customs broker, told police the girl went for a walk about 8 o'clock last night.

When she failed to return by midnight search was started. Officers

Leo Magone and Ed Stotler found the body.

Apparently the violent death is another in the series in which girls and women have been the victims in recent years and which have baffled criminal experts here.

The first was the slaying and mutilation of the body of Virginia Brooks, school girl. Then followed the murders of Louise Teuber, a clerk hanged to a tree on a mountain, the stabbing of Hazel Bradshaw, stenographer, and the choking to death of Dolly Bibbons.

ROCK RIVER TO BE DRAINED TO LOCATE STUMPS

Stream Will Be Almost Dry Between Nelson
and Sterling.

Rock river between Sterling and Nelson, known as Sinnissippi lake, will be almost drained Sunday, to permit the markings of stumps which are a menace to motor boat navigation. The stumps later will be removed. The work will be done by the government with a special allotment of $1,000.

Gates of the government dam will be closed Saturday night, and the river will be "routed" through the Illinois Northern Utilities company turbines. Every dam between Sterling and Wisconsin, in Rock river, will be closed Saturday night, and what water remains above Sterling dam Sunday morning will be sent through the sluice gates.

Officers of the Sinnissippi Fish and Boat club, assisted by more than 100 volunteers, will attack floats to stumps in the lake area. Then dams in the river will be opened and the river will be allowed to resume its normal course. Game wardens will be on hand to see that as little harm is done to fish in the river as possible by the lowering of the water.

The work will be done on Sunday so as to interfere with the production of electric power for commercial users as little as possible.

PAYROLLS DECLINE
Chicago.—(AP)—Employment and payrolls in Illinois industries declined 1.4 per cent and 2.3 per cent, respectively, in July from the preceding month. The state department of labor described the declines as being in conformity with the usual June-July movement.

He told of being driven to Richmond, Washington, Knoxville "and I don't know where else."

He knew said he was enroute from Goldboro to Smithfield with $40 to buy some bricks for his church, when he was stopped by a man at crossroads between Catch-Me-Eye and Pine Level.

Stopped on Highway
The man, the evangelist told officers, told him he had a sick child in Raleigh and asked to be driven to a hospital there. Askew said he agreed.

Arriving in Raleigh, the evangelist continued, he stopped near a city park so that his passenger might go to a nearby hospital.

A car drove up with three men and one, poking a pistol against his ribs, told him to "step in."

"I got in," he added.

The evangelist related that the three men gave his passenger "some money" and then started off with him, talking to him by night and in the daytime forcing him to swallow some kind of tablets—"something that made me sleep."

Demand on Aimee
A letter demanding $25,000 of Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, for the release of Askew was turned over to Los Angeles police yesterday, but the minister said he did not know why he was abducted and said he had not been asked to sign any notes.

Asked by detectives what the three men said to him about during their travels, he replied:

"They were trying to find out if I had any money or my people or Mrs. McPherson had any. I told them my people didn't and I didn't know whether Mrs. McPherson did, but that if she did it couldn't be very much as she is like everybody else."

He told of being relieved of the $40 that he intended to use for his church at Smithfield.

Beier Bakery Now
Has Its Own Well

A well drilling contractor, who has been at work for several days, has completed the sinking of a well on the property of the Beier bakery on Hennepin avenue. The greater part of the drilling was through solid rock to a depth of 125 feet where a fine vein of cold water was struck.

George Beier stated today that the water had tested 53 degrees. An electrically operated automatic water-lubricated pump is to be installed in the bakery, which will pump the water from the well. The flow is expected to average 50 gallons per minute or 3,000 per hour.

The water will be pumped through the cooling system in the department used for bringing the dough to the proper temperature before going into ovens, will supply the humidifiers in the mixing room and will also be used in the recently installed air cooling system.

BOY, ORPHANED BY CHAIR, HAS BEEN KIDNAPED

Uncle Fled With Son of
Mrs. Anna Antonio
Friday.

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Schenectady police received information today leading them to believe three-year-old Frank Antonio, who disappeared yesterday with his uncle, is safe and about to be returned.

Chief of Police William F. Funston said he looked for a "break" early tonight.

The chief did not reveal what word he had received, but said he thought the child was not far from Schenectady.

Frank, orphan son of Mrs. Anna Antonio, who was executed last week for murder, was only partly clad and fresh from his bath when he disappeared with his uncle. Funston's fear was that he might suffer from exposure or hunger.

The pair vanished from the uncle's home yesterday when relatives came with a court order to claim custody of the boy.

When the boy, one of three children of Mrs. Antonio is returned, he will be given to Mrs. Mary de Sisto. Mrs. de Sisto is the sister of Salvatore Antonio, the children's father, for whose murder the mother was executed.

Before his sister died in Sing Sing's electric chair, Capello promised her always to take care of Frank. He was highly wrought up when Mrs. de Sisto's representatives came for the boy.

The other children, Phyllis, 9, and Marie, 7, also were awarded to Mrs. de Sisto.

Strike News of Today Condensed for Quick Reading

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Strikes, with one gigantic movement involving 825,000 workers—possible presidential action—waning employment—labor's prediction of more jobs, of such is the nation's labor picture today.

The United Textile Workers of America, claiming a membership of 306,000, voted at its New York convention last night to call out workers in affiliated trades as well as in the cotton textile industry. The strike is to start by September 1.

Cotton textile workers total 500,000; woolen and worsted, silk, rayon and synthetic rayon knitters number 325,000.

The knitters were promised the backing of the American Federation of Labor.

President Roosevelt said in Washington that he would investigate the dispute between striking bus drivers and the Chicago Motor Coach Company. Communists are charged with trying to start a sympathy walkout among other transportation workers.

The Federal department of labor reported last month's drop in industrial payrolls was 359,000 men, $10,460,000. Strikes, weather and seasonal factors were held responsible.

William Green, who as president of the A. F. of L. promised that support to the textile workers, said in Atlantic City that seasonal fluctuations and "stimulation from the NRA" will increase employment next month. Labor will ask restoration of the CWA, however.

The strike of approximately 2,500 employees of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad was averted when both sides agreed at St. Louis to arbitration by the national mediation board. Employees of the International Lead Company and the U. S. Lead Refinery at Hammond, Ind., voted to submit their grievances to national labor authorities instead of striking. A minor strike was settled.

Mediators continued their efforts at the copper mines in Butte, Mont.; at the Kohler plumbing factory in Kohler, Wis., and in Minneapolis, where the truck drivers are striking.

Petitions in a back-to-work movement were circulated at plants of the American Aluminum Company, in the Pittsburgh

CHARGE CAGNEY, FILM STAR, IS RED 'PRODUCER'

Police Say Letters Show He Contributed to Communists.

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Despite James Cagney's vigorous denial letters intimating the screen star financially aided California Communists today remained among evidence to be used in prosecuting asserted Sacramento radicals.
Letters seized in red raids here spoke of "Cagney's money," which Police Detective Ray Kunz said came from the pocket of the movies' "tough guy."

From Hollywood Cagney promptly denied the implication. He denied he had "the slightest sympathy or connection with Communists" who are trying to tear down everything American for which I would fight."

Written By Woman.
Kunz said the letters were written by Ella Winter, divorced wife of Lincoln Steffens, liberal writer and lecturer, to Caroline Decker, secretary of the Cannery & Industrial Workers' Union, listed as a Communist party subsidiary. Kunz said Miss Winter was a Communist sympathizer.

Miss Decker is a defendant in a pending vagrancy trial of 24 alleged Communists and is among 17 persons indicted on charges of criminal syndicalism trial to show the extent of Communist activities.

"I have Cagney's money again," one of the letters found in Miss Decker's apartment read. "Cagney was fine this time and is going to bring other stars up to talk to Stef (Steffens) about Communism. He is interested in Stef's idea of getting a bunch of sympathizers together among his crowd to whom he can go."

Cagney In Denial.
The reference recalled the recent assertions of Police Captain William ynes of Los Angeles that several prominent personalities of the motion picture colony have contributed funds to Communists. He named none.

In a statement declaring he is 100 per cent American, Cagney vigorously denied he ever contributed "a single penny to anyone because he or she happens to be a member of any party." He said he was against all "isms" except Americanism.

While he has frequently visited Ella Winter and Steffens at Carmel, Cagney explained he was "not in sympathy with their tenets."

Goin Out in the Sun? Apply Cream First!

Rochelle Hudson, screen actress, protects her skin from an overdose of sunshine by applying a coat of protective cream before she starts for the beach.

BY ALICE HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Along about this time of year the average woman uses up the supply of summer creams and lotions that she bought last May. It seems a little late to get new items and she's inclined to think, "Well, I'll get along without them."

That's exactly what she shouldn't do. A complexion needs just as much attention in August and September as it did in June and July and to neglect your skin now means trouble later on.

Protective creams are most important, of course. You need a good one and you should use it consistently. You may like to smooth a light tissue cream on face, arms and neck before you go motoring, boating or golfing or you may prefer to use a lavish amount of foundation cream or lotion before you put on cosmetics. The latter method, of course, is less messy. However, a careful morning routine that makes use of both tissue and foundation creams is ideal for the girl who expects to expose her skin to the sun for hours and hours.

Just before you start out to play in the sunshine, clean your face and pat on nourishing cream. Keep patting until quite a good deal of the cream is absorbed. Wipe it off, apply skin tonic and then foundation cream or lotion. Put on rouge, powder generously and use lipstick. This simple treatment and the fact that you're freshly powdered will go a long way toward protecting your skin.

Monday, Sept. 3, Labor Day, is to be a red letter day in the program of the Methodists of the community when, one of the items of the Centenary of Dixon Methodism, a large stone marker will be placed and dedicated at the site in Lowell Park where in 1836 John Richards and wife Ann built their home. The Richards were members of the group of seven who organized the church in Dixon.

The Park Board has taken interest in this project and will officially receive the boulder as it is unveiled during a program of music, short talks and brief ceremony. The site in question is near the north shelter in Lowell Park, and not only Methodists but everyone who cares to come is very cordially invited.

The day being a holiday all are invited to take well filled baskets of food in time for games and fellowship in the morning. The dinner will be spread together about 12:30 and the program will begin at 2:00. There will be committees on transportation, food, games, and program.

New Books at Dixon Library

Crooked Lane—Hart
Karl Sheridan picks up the trail of death again—a death the more terrible because it must be solved outside the law, a death that cuts through loyalty and friendship and even love. A brilliant detective story, a heart-warming romance, and a climax terrible and inevitable.

Rivers Glide On—Hamilton Gibbs
Even though they lived in the same house, George Hibbard had lost his family one by one. His wife had become a nagging scold, his older son and older daughter had acquired the unpleasant veneer of pseudo-sophistication, his younger son lived in a world of his own occupied by model airplanes. Only with 12 year-old Ruth did he unexpectedly find a sense of understanding—and the prospect was that Ruth would succumb to her environment in a few years.

Friends and Romans—Virginia Faulkner
A witty social comedy in which the characters talk more amusingly perhaps, than is quite natural, and far more audaciously than is proper.

Medici—Young
The story of the Medici family is in effect the story of the golden age of Florence, and Colonel Young's famous chronicle leaves out no detail of one of the most glamorous chapters in all history. It is recognized the world over as the final authority on the vital phase of the Italian Renaissance.

Brain Guy—Appel
In Bill Trent, the "brain guy" we have something new, something more fascinating than tough fiction has hitherto produced, and the immersion of such a fellow in the heaving, violent, spectacular life of New York's underworld gives the reader everything he can ask for in the matter of psychology, atmosphere, and action alike.

Desert Wife—Faunce
Hilda Faunce and her husband were living a sheltered life in Oregon with the man longing to get back to the hot, dry southwest of his youth. So they departed behind a span of horses, with all their possessions in a wagon, for an isolated trading post in a Navajo reservation, miles from the nearest town. In a flimsy shack with a tent attached, these two endured Arizona heat and winter blizzards, and befriended the Navajos through sickness and poverty. The book is not only an unforgettable account of a little-known people, but an exciting record of courage and endurance under conditions which seem to the average reader almost unbearable.

VACATION AT GULL LAKE. STEAMER TRIP—
Mr. and Mrs. Monte Weeks left for Gull Lake, located near Battle Creek, Michigan, this morning where they will occupy a cottage until the 27th of August and on the 28th, Mrs. Weeks, who is secretary to Mr. Ralston at the Reynolds Wire Co., will take the lake steamer trip to Niagara Falls and back.

WASHINGTON HAT A HIT FOR WINTER—
Paris (AP)—The three-cornered "George Washington hat" which the French call "Marquise" is a "big hit" in feminine winter headgear this season. It comes in felt or panne velvet, and is generally designed with a flat crown and a brim which rolls sharply back in the three-cornered shape. Sometimes it is worn with a veil. Black is the favorite color.

MILITIA USE IN STRIKE GOES INTO REVERSE.

If the full history of use of the National Guard in labor disputes is ever written, not the least interesting chapter will be the one furnished by recent events in Minnesota.

The National Guard is called out in strikes, generally, to "preserve the peace."

This usually takes the form of camping out around the plant which is the center of industrial disturbance and presenting a hedge of bayonets to all who try to get at the machinery.

Since the strikers, in the very nature of things, are on the outside looking in, this usually means that use of the guard cramps the strikers' plans. Picket lines and the like do not thrive under military rule.

A factory which is protected by the guard can go on with its production in spite of the angry cries of the mob outside.

But the Minnesota case has provided a surprising reversal of the usual procedure.

Here we have had the guard, in effect, doing the picketing.

A plan to settle the truckmen's strike is proposed, accepted by labor and rejected by the employers. The latter, naturally enough, having rejected the offer, seek to run their trucks as usual.

But at this point the guardsmen, called out to maintain public order and keep the peace, begin doing precisely what the union pickets would do if the militia had stayed at home; they refuse to let trucks run at all unless they are being operated under terms of the offer of settlement.

Now the use of the guardsmen is always, in theory, impartial. They are not supposed to take sides; they are supposed to keep property from being destroyed and to keep heads from being cracked.

Usually, because of the circumstances in which they are called to serve, this has the effect of breaking the strike.

In this Minnesota case—and it is hard to think of any other case quite like it—things are reversed. The guardsmen's law-and-order activities have the effect of helping the strikers.

The whole method of meeting the problem of violence in labor disputes has been turned upside down. A precedent has been set. It will be exceedingly interesting to see what comes of it.

A RECORD WORTH SAVING.

Two young artists are starting on a long trip through the mountains of Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina. They plan to make a complete pictorial record of the lives and customs of those isolated and fascinating folk, the "mountain whites," in the belief that this group is a passing race.

Great changes are beginning in the land, and not least of them is the new development in these southern mountains. The federal government's plans for the Tennessee valley, its use of subsistence homesteads, its scheme for decentralizing industry and tying city and country more closely together—these things will profoundly affect the conditions under which the mountaineers live.

These artists believe that the mountaineer of tradition will soon be living under very different conditions; so they want to make a record of him before it is too late.

Whether the change will be as great as they expect may be open to question. It is certain that, if it is, something peculiarly and fundamentally American will pass away. Let us have this pictorial record, by all means. It will preserve the memory of something that is deeply rooted in our national life.

REAL BENEFIT TO NEEDY.

The great scope of work done by government relief agencies is shown by recent statistics revealing that more than 500,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs have been distributed to the needy by Uncle Sam.

A family subsisting on federal relief gets such things as beef, pork and veal roasts, beans, bread and butter, oranges, apples, and cheese.

In addition, thousands of tons of coal have been distributed, and huge quantities of surplus cotton have been woven into blankets for the unemployed. Millions of bushels of wheat, corn, oats, and barley have been given to farmers in the drouth areas for starving livestock.

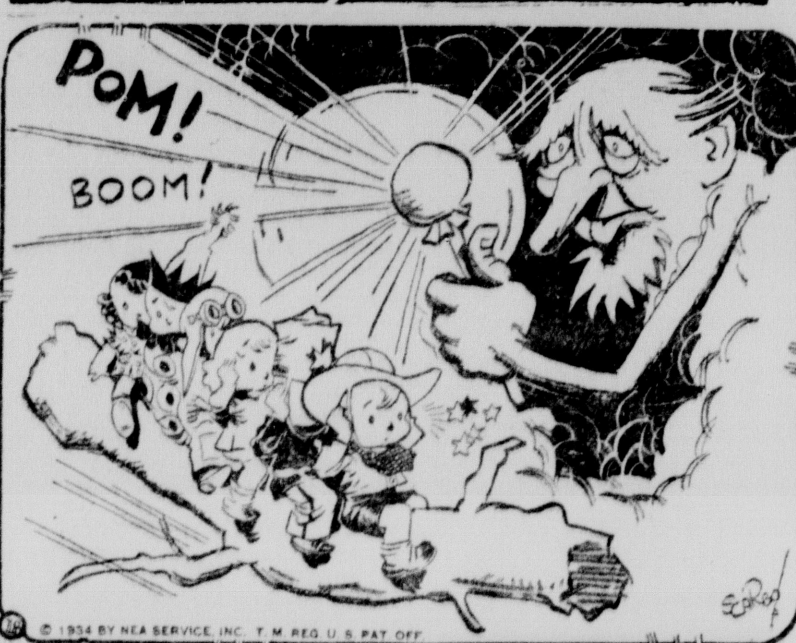

Distributing all these things has been very costly, of course. But it must also have prevented an appalling amount of human misery.

Noise of great cities and the complexities of the modern social system have made nervousness three times as prevalent as any other malady. It is responsible for many health fads, for much peculiar behavior and probably for the cult of nudism.—Dr. H. C. McAlister of Chicago.

Young America will blunder and stumble. He will argue illogically and make unwise decisions, even as his elders have done. But trust Young America. He will not fail you.—Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, president of Hiram College.

That disarmament negotiations can begin as a result of regional pacts, yes; but that they can begin as a condition of pacts, no.—Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France.

Nobody shoots at Santa Claus.—Alfred E. Smith.

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.

The cyclone blew and blew and blew. Cried Goldy, "Oh, what can we do? The crazy tree we're on is at the mercy of this blow."

"You're right," exclaimed the frightened tree. "I guess this is the end of me. Why I deserve this awful fate is something I don't know."

"Well, I can very easily guess. You got us in this awful mess," snapped Duncy. "Now you're being paid right back for all your tricks."

"If you had stayed upon the ground, instead of sailing 'round and 'round, I'm sure that none of us, right now, would be in such a fix."

"Why, I thought it would be real fun. I'm sorry, now, for what I've done," the old tree wailed. Then, in a moment, Dotty shouted, "Geel! The tree has lost its legs and face. The arms have faded into space. What are we riding on right now, is just a plain old tree."

"But still we're at the mercy of the wind," said Copsy. "I'd just love to find some way to steer this thing directly toward the earth."

"If we could settle on the ground I'm sure that we'd be safe and sound. All we can do, however, is hang on for all we're worth."

Just then there came an awful sound. As little Dotty looked around, she cried, "Oh, look above us. There's a real cross-looking man."

"He's beating on a great big drum. Oh, my, why did he have to come? I fear he'll make us deaf. All hold your ears, as best you can."

"Ha, ha! Ho, ho!" the old man cried. "Leave it to me to spoil your ride. I rule the sky when there's a storm. You have no business here."

"My name is Old Man Thunder and I'll make more noise than you can stand." "Aw, noise won't hurt us," Copsy said. "There's really nothing to fear."

President von Hindenburg Carried to His Bier

Even the horses of the military escort seemed to sense the tragedy of President Paul von Hindenburg's death, for they too stood with bowed heads as the flag-draped casket was borne into the memorial at Tannenberg, Germany, for the impressive funeral services. In the background troops of cavalry present sabres while foot companies behind stand at attention.

JULY WAS TOUGH MONTH ON DAIRY COWS OF D. H. I. A.

Tester Robt. Spangler Makes Report for Torrid Month.

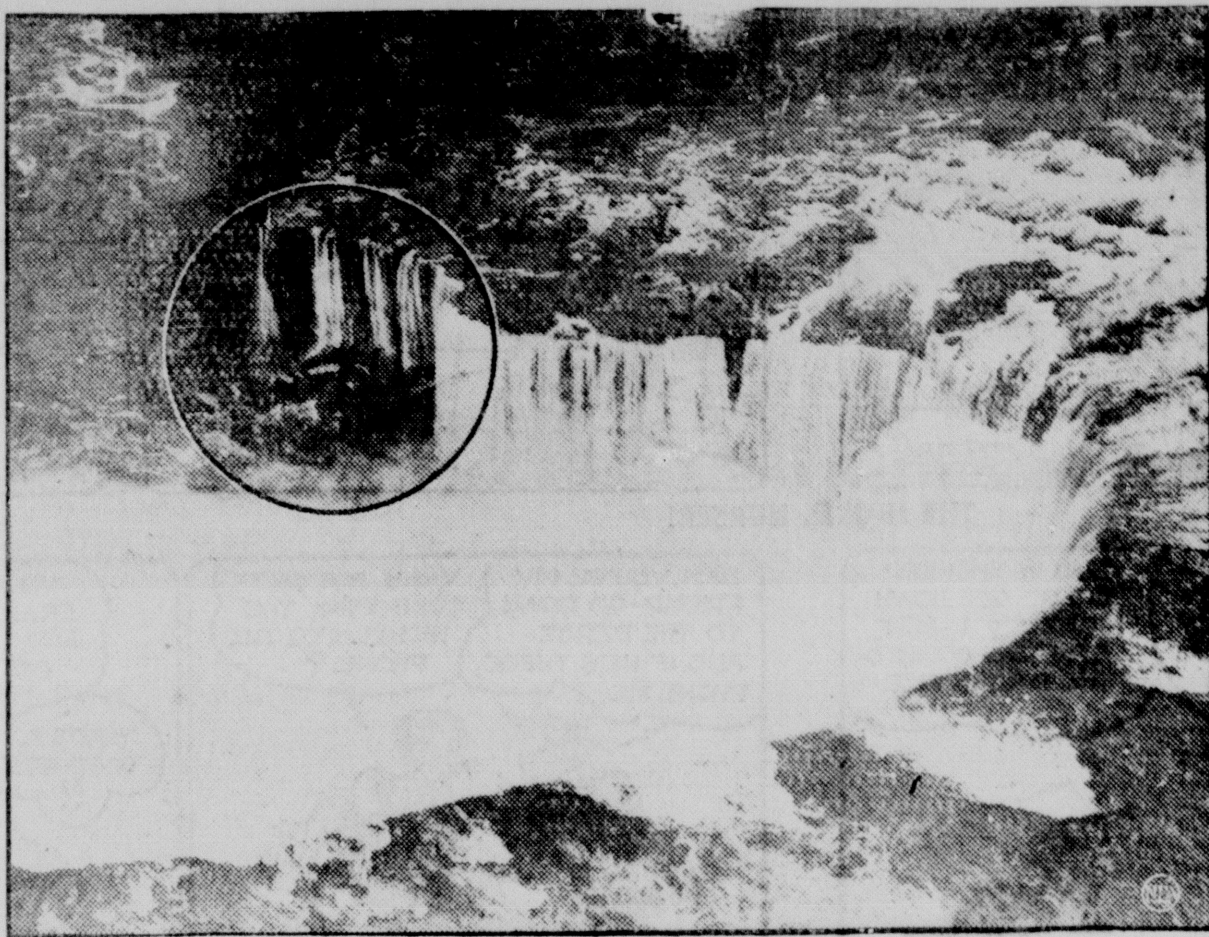

By ROBERT E. SPANGLER
Last month was a hard month on the dairy cows. The intense heat threw the cows off their production, and then too, as I was only a substitute on the D. H. I. A. work and the regular tester had missed some of the members for some time, a few members dropped from the association work. But I think that in a short time those who have withdrawn from the association will soon realize that it is only through the D. H. I. A. work that one can call his dairy herd of his low producers. During this short feed and drought period which will extend on into next year, the dairy should be interested to know his profitable and unprofitable cows. Why waste feed on an unprofitable cow when you could get better results and profitable returns by feeding that wasted feed to a profitable cow. Why not learn to know which of your cows will and have produced your profitable producing heifers and thus lower your feed expense by raising fewer and better heifers. Get a checkup on your herd sire and see if he is raising the production of your herd.

Next month the Lee, No. 2, D. H. I. A. is to reorganize and hire a new tester. Now is the time to start testing your herd. Get in touch with our county agent C. E. Yule and he will see that your herd is properly tested.

For the month of July a herd of 33 grade Jersey cows owned by Smith and Coverly led the association with an average production of 150 pounds of milk and 30.1 pounds of fat on two times a day milking. Three of the 33 cows were dry. Charles Mannon with 29 pure bred and grade Holsteins had a herd average of 765 pounds of milk and 28.4 pounds of fat. The third highest producing herd was the 16 pure bred and grade Holsteins owned by Henry Frederichs and which averaged 797 pounds of milk and 28.1 pounds of fat. Powers and Drury were fourth with their herd of 21 pure bred Holsteins which averaged 832 pounds of milk and 27.6 pounds of fat. Fifth place was a herd of 19 pure bred and grade Holsteins owned by Dewitt Morgan. This herd averaged 859 pounds of milk and 28.6 pounds of fat.

There were only two cows in the 10 pounds class. One of Charles Mannon's pure bred Holsteins had

How Niagara Looks After Biting Its Lip Again

The famed Canadian Horseshoe falls of Niagara presented a new face to sightseers after hundreds of tons of rock pitched with a deafening roar from the lip of the gorge 160 feet below. At the point shown in the circle, the water is plunging over the brink in the new curvature formed by the rock collapse, this new recession being about 100 feet deep and 150 to 200 yards long. The section that fell extended beyond the first notch of the horseshoe from the Canadian side and was close to Goat Island.

a production of 53.7 pounds of fat and one of Dewitt Morgan's Holsteins had a production of 51.4 pounds of fat. There were 14 cows in the 40 pound class.

The association average for the month was 656 pounds of milk, 24.6 pounds of fat with 312 cows on test from 14 herds. 27 of the 312 cows on test were dry. During the month 11 unprofitable cows were sold to the butcher.

Living Our Everyday Lives

ON ACCOUNT

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
Today I read the autobiography of a famous editor of Japan. It was a charming story simply told, colored, to be sure, by the picturesque scenery of his country.

Yet at bottom, and in many of its details, it was much like the life of a man in any other land. For, basically, our human life is the same beneath the surface.

As a boy he was full of the zest of life, doing every kind of mischief, and a great trial to his parents and his teachers, as most boys are the world over.

Looking back at those years, he is amazed at the kindness and forbearance of his elders. And here is a bit of wisdom which he learns from their leniency:

"It is infallible evidence of the goodness of human nature that the world often treats us in a more kindly manner than we deserve. Such treatment, I believe, is given us 'on account,' and in anticipation of the future services we are expected to render to others."

That is real philosophy, if not true religion. He saw that those indulgences were not by his own right, but advanced payments, so to speak, which he was expected to return, at another time, to other people.

In middle life, as a great employer, he tried to do as he had been done by, and his genius certainly repaid, in large part, his account to the kindness of the world.

In other words, he felt that one who had received so much tolerance and courtesy, beyond his due, held it in trust for those who need these things at his hands.

It is something to remember and think about. When some one has let us off lightly, it should make us humble. We should not strut off, puffed up with vanity, thinking that it is because we are we and entitled to it.

Far from it. The bigness belongs to those who deal with us so kindly, overlooking our stupidity. In the same way, when we come to deal with others, let us remember and be patient, not angry—merciful, not just.

All of us are foolish enough, as God knows, and if we got what we actually deserve it would go hard with us. Let us forgive, make allowance, and so pay our account.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE LEAD IN ACQUIRING MEAT

Will Become Largest Distributor in the Country.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The magnitude of the relief drive in the nation's worst drought catastrophe was underscored today when it became apparent that for months the government will be the country's largest buyer and distributor of meat.

Before the program is finished, conservative estimates said, the government will own 2,000,000,000 pounds of processed beef and 150,000,000 pounds of mutton to hand over to needy families.

Officials said that when the program is over and the industry goes back to private hands it will be in better shape and the cattle herds will be vastly improved.

In buying drought-menaced animals which cannot be fed or watered by their owners, the government is culling out the less desirable animals.

imals. This culling, they say, will be worth millions of dollars to the livestock industry of the future and will leave it in the best position in history.

Most To Be Canned
Of the 10,000,000 cattle and 5,000,000 sheep and goats to be bought, most will be slaughtered and converted into meat products immediately after buying.

Some will be shipped to southern pastures to be fattened for slaughter, and the rest will be shipped to "deficit areas" for rehabilitation uses.

Six months ago the AAA said the beef cattle population of 67,000,000 was about 17,000,000 above normal. Cattle were not at that time basic commodity under the AAA, and officials were powerless to attempt reductions. Now the buying forced by drought is reducing surpluses.

Largest Gold Nugget
The largest gold nugget of which there is authentic record was the "Welcome Stranger," found in a shallow cart rut near Molligul, Victoria, Australia, February 5, 1880, which weighed between 2,250 and 2,500 troy ounces.

Monkeys and Apes Swim
Although most monkeys and apes shun water, some species are known to swim and even to dive in their wild state. Monkeys do not differ much from many other animals in this respect.

Insects That Sing
Singing insects are found in Japan. One of these is a singing black-beetle called sugsunsi, that is, "insect bell." The sound that it makes resembles the tinkle of a little silver bell.

DOG TROUBLES!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, August 7 (via Mackay Radio):—Now that the excitement about the tractor trip which failed to bring Admiral Byrd back to us has given way to the details of another attempt, our life here has once more resumed its normal routine. In spite of the great amount of automotive equipment we have, we are seriously concerned over our loss of dog power. After all, the dogs are still a most important part of our transportation set-up, and, during the past few months, we have lost 40 dogs. Some of these died from natural causes. Some were lost overboard from the flagship Jacob Ruppert on the way down here. One broke away, wandered off and we were unable to find him.

Our few little new pups are being very carefully reared, some even by hand. Commander Noville and Capt. Innes-Taylor adopted two puppies which had been deserted by their mother. These were raised on the bottle and are now growing rapidly. However, they are still living in the little hut with the two foster fathers. Recently, of another litter of eight, only one survived. This one was brought in and left with Capt. Innes-Taylor and Commander Noville. They objected strongly and concocted a diabolical scheme. That night they placed the newly born pup in a box, hung a nursing bottle on the box and stole into the science laboratory where they left it on the desk of Dr. Charles G. Morgan, our leading geologist, from Tulsa, Okla. The next day there was a furious argument between the scientists and the two culprits. The latter were accused of abandonment. They replied that the raising of the puppy should prove an interesting experiment for such eminent scientists. So the scientists are now raising the pup in truly scientific fashion, its feeding schedule is posted on its box. Alongside is a set of scales on which it is weighed each day. Photographs are taken of it daily to show its progress and its food is measured and weighed to a fraction of an ounce. This pup, Orphan Annie, is now the pride of the scientific department and will probably wind up with a superiority complex.

For four days now we have been looking for Toby, one of our best lead dogs. Toby sneaked out the other night and broke into the dog pemmican cache, ate ten pounds of it and disappeared. Everybody in camp started looking for him and ski parties risked their lives in the Antarctic night looking for him out on the trail. No trace. Yesterday, while working on the engines of the big airplane with Paul Swan, we had to go inside the fuselage. The door was open and there lay Toby, looking very sheepish. Capt. Innes-Taylor has sentenced Toby to the hoosegow for going "AWOL." Every night Commander Noville and Capt. Innes-Taylor keep open house for the coffee drinkers. They are so busy making coffee for these guests and preparing milk for their two puppies that they have very little time for anything else. Even if we are able to rescue the big Cleveland tractor which we had to abandon 67 miles out on the trail and which is now undoubtedly covered with snow, we shall still need more dogs. They form an important part of the equipment for the amazing tractor and dog team explorations planned along the base of the Queen Maud mountains next November or earlier. But we shall probably have to get on with the dogs we have.

The excitement over our attempts to bring Admiral Byrd back to Little America by tractor has caused a great rush of new members to join our club. If you haven't joined yet send a clearly self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at the American headquarters. Address Arthur Abele, Jr., President, Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York.

Club membership is entirely free and you will be sent a beautiful big working map of the South Polar regions and a membership card with the raising of the puppy should out cost.

ROWE PROVIDED MOST THRILL IN FRIDAY'S GAMES

Detroit Star Pitcher Held Yankees Safely in Rubber Game.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.) Baseball fans—even those who sympathized with the Yankees, 5-1-2 games away from the American League lead and without much prospect of getting closer soon—today paid tribute again to Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, the "villain" from a Yankee viewpoint.

It was Rowe, conqueror of the Yanks on the first day of their important series with Detroit's pace-setting Tigers, who came back yesterday with an even finer performance to shut them out 2 to 0 in the final clash. The schoolboy gave only three hits in that final performance for his 14th consecutive triumph after Vernon (Goofy) Gomez had pitched the Yanks to a 5 to 0 triumph in the first game of the doubleheader and square the series.

Gomez did some fine pitching on his own account to win his 20th game, although he gave eight blows while the Yanks got only six from Vic Sorrell. He was more effective in the clinches as the Yanks bunched four hits and a walk for three runs in the first and finished their scoring when Tony Lazzeri hit a homer in the sixth.

Rowe, however, provided the greatest thrills for the crowd of 46,571. He was wild but he made up for that weakness with eleven strikeouts, some of them in the most troublesome spots. In addition he survived a third inning mishap when he stumbled over a base in the midst of the Tiger rally which won the game and barely escaped a serious ankle injury. His single helped along the rally, although it was Pete Fox's triple after Marvin Owen had been hit by one of Jimmy Doherty's pitches and a single by Manager Mickey Cochran that drove in the runs.

While the Tigers won one game for their 5 1/2 game lead, the Giants attained the same margin in the National League race by blasting out a double victory over Pittsburgh while the Boston Braves took a single contest from the second-place Cubs.

Giants Pounded Pirates The Giants pounded Pirate pitching for 29 hits to win by 7 to 3 and 8 to 3 while Roy Parmelee and Carl Hubbell held the Cubs sufficiently in check. Among the swats were Mel Ott's 31st and 32nd home runs, which accounted for six tallies in the two games, and six hits by Bill Terry.

The Braves continued as Chicago's "jinx" by pounding big Jim Weaver for four runs in the seventh and a 5 to 2 victory. It made 11 triumphs for Boston in 18 games with the Cubs and even the return of two of the Cubs' injured aces, Bill Jurgens and Chuck Klein, failed to alter the result. The Cardinals, meanwhile, cut Chicago's margin to half a game by blasting Philadelphia pitching for 17 hits and a 12 to 2 victory as the rebellious Paul Dean returned to the team just in time to do a fine job of relief hurling. Jim Collins pitched in with his 28th homer. The Brooklyn Dodgers beat Cincinnati, 12-4.

Senators Won Two The Senators got the best results from the American League program of four doubleheaders when they took both games from Cleveland 4 to 3 and 1 to 0. They had to go ten innings to take the opener, bunching three hits in the extra inning. Bob Burke's three-hit flinging carried them to the second victory.

The other bargain bills resulted in even breaks. Boston made it three straight over the Browns with a 6-0 triumph when Wes Ferrell hurled two-hit ball for his eleventh victory, but went down 5 to 2 in the second clash before George Blaeholder's six-hit pitching. The Athletics took the ten-inning opener from Chicago 9 to 8 as Ed Coleman belted three home runs for a season's record, but even Jimmie Fox's 36th circuit swing couldn't win the second game as Ted Lyons limited the A's to four blows and won 3 to 2. Coleman's feat was a record for the season and has been surpassed only three times in major league history although equaled frequently.

Tilden is Missing From Title Tourney

Chicago, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Bill Tilden's name was missing from the entry list today as the national professional tennis championship tournament started at the South Shore Country Club.

Tilden is under suspension by the National Professional Tennis Association. Four matches were scheduled for the opening program. George O'Connell of Chicago, was paid with Rudolph Noble of New York in the first one, with Ellisworth Vines, former amateur champion, who is seeded second, following against Louis Volpe of Chicago. Hans Nusslein of Germany opposed George Jennings of Chicago, and Paul Heson of Washington, D. C. was matched with George Hudson of New York in the other first rounders.

Vincent Richards, the defending champion, is top seeded.

Cavalcade Not to Start in Travers Stake Race Today

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The withdrawal of Cavalcade because of a leg injury took much of the interest out of the 65th running of the Travers Stake of a mile and a quarter today.

A half dozen three-year-olds in the second flight were named overnight for the $20,000 race. A. C. Schwartz' Goy Monarch and M. L. Schwartz' Observant, coupled as the Trainer Max Hirsch entry, was the 6 to 5 choice with C. V. Whitney's Roustabout and Collateral held at 3 to 1; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Black Buddy at 5 to 1 and H. C. Phipps' Cleves at 10 to 1.

ALLISON-PARKER MATCH SHOULD BE OUTSTANDING TEST

Two Tennis Stars Meet Today in Newport Casino Finals.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Two of the outstanding players of the eastern grass court season, Wilmer Allison and Frankie Parker will clash today for the historic Newport Casino trophy.

Allison will be playing his second important finals match in as many weeks. Last Saturday he defeated Berkeley Bell of New York for the Longwood Bowl title and yesterday, when they met for the fifth time this season, he came from behind to win one of the best matches Newport has seen in many, many years.

Parker, meeting the national clay court champion, Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, for the second time in three weeks, gave that tiny Georgia star a four-set drubbing.

Both of today's finalists play the same type of game. They stroke like machines, are as steady as a rock and generally win by running their opponents into the ground.

Doubles Complicated. The doubles situation is a bit complicated. The Davis cup heroes, George Lott and Lester Stoefer, gained a final bracket yesterday by defeating their international teammates, Shields and Sidney Wood, who shared the overseas singles assignments, in straight sets, but Allison and Johnny VanRyn, lagging behind in the quarter-finals, were only able to advance as far as a semi-final round match against Bell and Gregory Mangin.

Casino officials have scheduled only the singles final and the doubles semi-final for today, putting over the final doubles match until tomorrow. It is likely, however, that Allison and VanRyn, more interested in next week's national doubles play at Philadelphia than they are in gaining a Casino title, will decide to default to Bell and Mangin, a move that would permit the latter pair to clash against Lott and Stoefer in the final round this afternoon.

STAGNATION OF BUILDING SHOWN BY DODGE CORP.

Survey Reveals Building Contracts Are Running Lower.

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Federal home renovating and building campaign comes at a time when it is needed to rescue the residential building industry.

This is indicated by the statistics just issued on the volume of contracts let for July.

Total residential building contracts let in the 37 states east of the Rockies in July, according to F. W. Dodge Corp., amount to $18,879,100, compared with $26,565,200 in June, and $23,630,400 in July of last year.

L. Seth Schmittman, chief statistician of the Dodge Corp., said in an interview: "Since April, residential building contracts have been running consistently lower than in the same months in 1933. A decline in the last three months especially accentuates a necessity for speeding the program of the Federal housing administration as to modernizing and home building, for unless the plan takes hold quickly, we must resign ourselves to a residential building contract volume for the remainder of the year well below the comparative totals of 1933."

Banks Cooperate Statistics are not available as to the initial response of the home modernizing campaign launched this week, but the widely expressed willingness of banks to cooperate in making the partially guaranteed loans has led to high hopes of a substantial pickup in building during the autumn. Stagnation of building still represents one of the major problems of restoring employment. The July total of residential building was less than 10 per cent of the average for that month for the five-year period of 1925-29.

For the year to Aug. 1 residential building contracts are still above 1933, owing to the relatively better comparisons with the preceding year in the early months. The total for the seven months is $151,627,000, against $136,788,600 for 1933. The latter figure, of course, reflects in part the highly disturbed conditions leading up to and including the bank holiday.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, tries not to be jealous of the other girls in her crowd at Larchneck, fashionable New York suburb. SYLVIA RIVERS, rich girl in town, flirts with Boots and falls to invite her to a party at the beach club. Boots accepts a last-minute invitation from Mrs. WATERMAN, socially prominent, to a dinner at the club that same night.

Quite innocently, Boots is thrown into an embarrassing situation by HARDY WHITMORE, one of Sylvia's guests, who had been drinking. He tries to induce Boots to go sailing with him and when she runs away, goes off in a boat alone and falls overboard. His rescue causes considerable excitement and Sylvia is furious she resolves to punish Boots and maliciously repeats the story in a way to discredit the other girl.

CHAPTER IX

BOOTS' tete-a-tete with Hardy was interrupted by the arrival of the Beach Club swimming instructor, Russ Lund. Hatless, looking by comparison to Hardy's leanness and trimness rather the "roughneck" that Patty had dubbed him, he stood there grinning at her.

"You forgot something," Boots stared at him. Then she smiled. He was holding her vanity case out to her, a frivolous affair of fine tortoise shell, flat and thin. She must have left it in the car when he drove her home.

"Oh, yes. Thanks a lot." She began rather haltingly to make the necessary introductions. "Mr. Whitmore . . . Mr. Lund . . ."

Hardy bowed a trace too stiffly and said they knew each other. Russ's duck trousers were rather bagged looking. The virile white sweater, in contrast to Hardy's beautifully tailored fannels, looked utterly hopeless.

"Well, I'll be seeing you. Thought you might want the gadget . . ."

Boots came out of her trance to thank him again, this time too profusely, because she felt sorry for him and hated to see him snubbed. Who was Hardy—what did he think he was—to go high hat on her all of a sudden?

Her momentary sense of embarrassment died in the face of Hardy's cool arrogance. What if he did as usual, quite without warrant, that the Beach Club guard was unduly friendly with her? It was none of his business. If she were going to be one of Larchneck's girl outlaws she might as well play the role to the limit.

As Russ's old car, parked a few doors down the street, chugged spasmodically out of sight she said coolly, "He's a grand person, really," with an enthusiasm she was far from feeling. She knew little or nothing about the squarely built, big-shouldered young man with the shock of unruly hair, except that he obviously admired her.

THE golden youth beside her looked at her in puzzlement. What had gone wrong with the interview? He was accustomed to fluttering interest. He would have sworn this little thing would be grateful for any crumbs of flattery he might toss her way. But somehow she wasn't playing up. He felt it had been darned decent of him to come around in the first place. Why, he hardly knew the girl although he had always thought her daisy yellow hair and big brown eyes a delectable combination. She could be a knock out, he told himself solemnly, with the right clothes and more sophisticated makeup. Of course she was one of the younger crowd. Why, he was ten years older. That made a lot of difference. She had spirit though. She threw up her head and therefore turned on Boots now his most devastating smile. Older women than she had been known to be stirred by it, and Boots had been hurt and baffled all day. Small wonder she succumbed to the charm he managed to inject into his agreeable voice.

"Be a sweet thing and prove you're not mad at me. Come out tonight. We'll go places. Dance." Well, why not? She had, she told herself, nothing to lose and everything to gain. Her father wouldn't object. All the young men in Larchneck looked pretty much alike to him.

OFFICERS STATE FAIR EXPECTING ONE OF BIGGEST

Entries in Exhibits Surprisingly Big on Opening Day.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The state fair is underway. As the gates officially swung open early this morning for the 82nd annual exposition, officials declared there was a decided increase in the number and quality of exhibits.

The star attraction of the opening day was a program of running races, including the Governor's Derby at one mile.

While farmers brought in their exhibits, General Manager E. S. Collins said that if the weather is favorable the attendance might be surprisingly large in spite of the drought and the competing attraction of the Chicago fair.

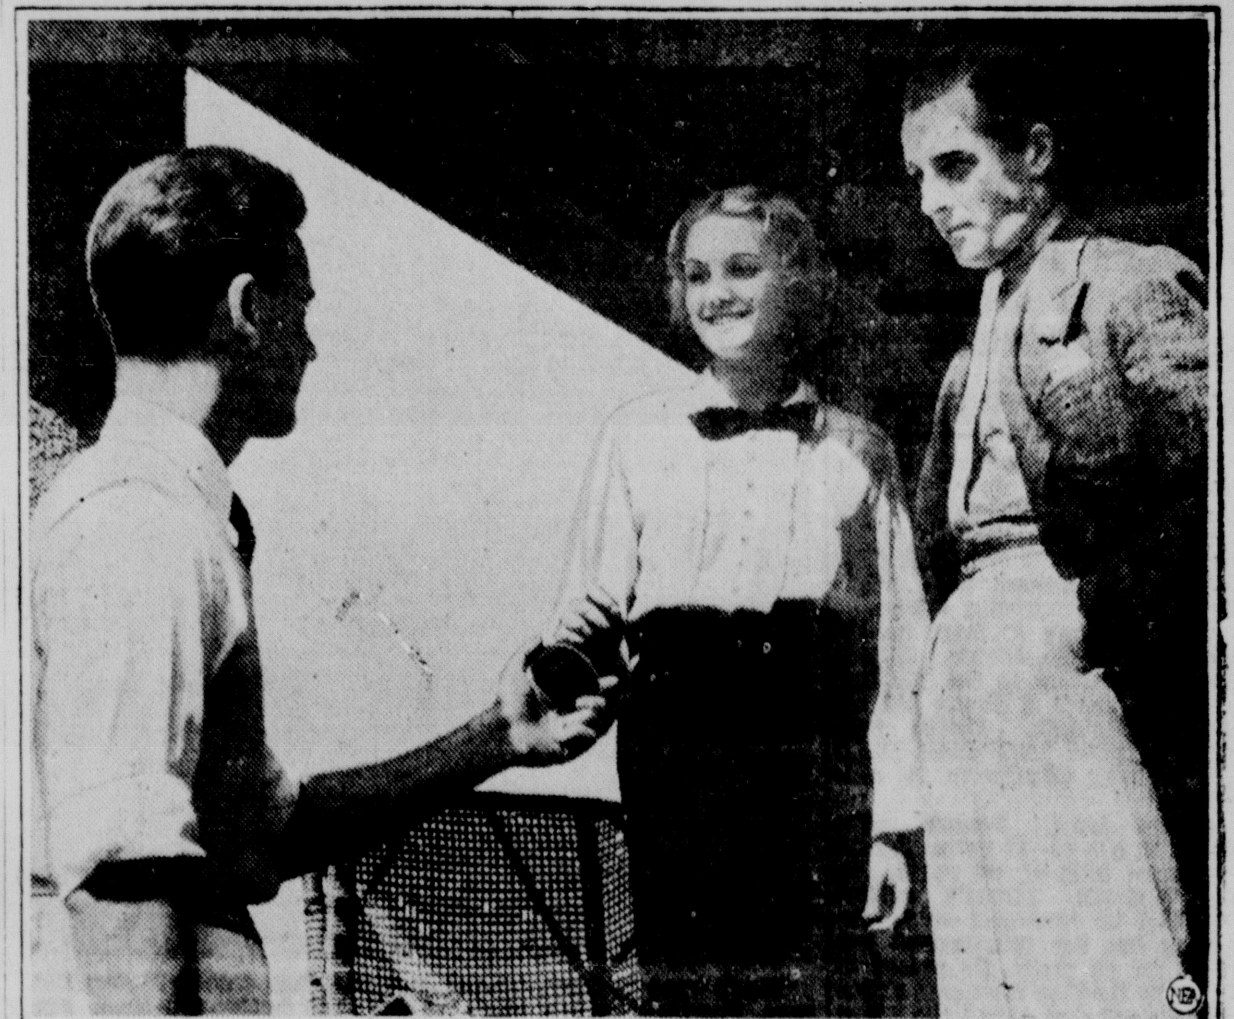

"We are ready for the opening of what promises to be the greatest fair Illinois ever held," Collins said.

Big Stock Entries In ten livestock and poultry departments the number of entries is larger than any previous Illinois fair. These include dairy cattle sheep, swine and the light and heavy horse classes. Beef cattle on display are exactly the same number as last year.

The National Hereford Exposition and the National Swine Show are again being held in connection with the fair.

Awarding of prize ribbons on livestock, grain and household exhibits won't start until Monday, but judging commenced this morning on the baby health and 4-H club contests.

"You forgot something," Russ said. He held out the vanity case.

like a young filly and he liked that husky voice of hers. It had a sassy undertone in it. You could do something with this girl. . . .

What did she mean by smiling that way at old Redneck from the club? Something ought to be done about it. He wasn't her class.

Thus Hardy's thoughts. . . . He had been relieved, a few moments before, when Boots had assured him he had nothing to do with any discomfort she might be suffering at the hands of the good ladies he casually dubbed "the village witches." Every woman over 30 was a witch to this arrogant, handsome young man. But now he wasn't sure he wanted to have his kind offer so casually dismissed.

If Isabel was right Boots was "in bad" with the witches. He knew the town; it would make her suffer. Selfish as he was, Hardy was decent enough underneath to feel a slight qualm at the prospect. He had been boiled as an owl the other night, Isabel had assured him. Sylvia had ridden him badly when he had met her and he'd still had the hangover. He hadn't been very nice to Sylvia. He had high-tailed her all over the place. Sure, Sylvia was oke but she mustn't act as though she owned him. He couldn't stand that. Nothing burned him up so much as the inevitable feminine possessiveness. He shied at the least hint of it and Sylvia had made a fatal error in showing her hand.

HE therefore turned on Boots now his most devastating smile. Older women than she had been known to be stirred by it, and Boots had been hurt and baffled all day. Small wonder she succumbed to the charm he managed to inject into his agreeable voice.

PREVENTATIVE FOR INFANTILE DISEASES FOUND

Philadelphia Savant Announces Serum for Paralysis.

Philadelphia, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Pneumonia is next on the "public enemy" list of Dr. John A. Kolmer, the modest Philadelphia medical professor who claims discovery of the first preventative for infantile paralysis.

Even in the excitement of announcing development of his anti-paralysis vaccine late yesterday, the professor's future research plans and hopes were in the background of his thoughts.

Now that a way has been found to prevent the dread paralysis, he declared, there will be more time for his work on a vaccine to forestall pneumonia.

He has already developed a fluid, he disclosed, which has been used effectively in immunizing rabbits from the lung inflammation, with the same vaccine has met with "a large degree of success" in experiments in humans.

Risked His Life. While carrying on the pneumonia work, he said, he will attempt to supplement his infantile paralysis vaccine with a serum to "cure" that disease after infection sets in.

He was experimenting along this line, the researcher explained, at the time of development of his preventative vaccine from the spinal cords of monkeys.

The 48-year-old professor, who divides his time between Temple University and the Independent Research Institute where the vaccine was developed, risked his life to test his discovery before publicly claiming success yesterday.

ILLINI EXPECT MUCH FROM JACK BEYNON, QUARTER

Rockford Star is Big Cog in Zuppke's Grid Machine.

(Telegraph Special Service.)

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 18.—Jack Beynon's exceptional forward passing talent, all-around playing ability and resourceful leadership bulk large among the reasons which cause the followers of Illinois football to look forward with confidence to the impending season.

With Beynon's throwing as the spearhead of its offense, Illinois, the lightest team in the Big Ten, made a strong bid for the championship. Critics conceded that the Illini aerial attack was the most effective in the conference.

Against Army, Beynon completed 12 out of 17 passes for an impressive total of 153 yards. In the dramatic struggle against Michigan he connected seven (including one for interference) out of 12 for 68 yards. He passed to Frink for the first movement of the "hot flicker" that scored the initial touchdown on Wisconsin and to Portman for the winning touchdown against Chicago.

In the tense battle which closed the season, he threw over the Ohio State goal to Bob Wright for the touchdown that would have tied the score had the Illini added the extra point.

Is Skilled Otherwise

Beynon's passing was only one part of his contribution. He handled punts skillfully, seldom fumbling, and gained consistently in returning them and took his turn in carrying the ball from scrimmage. He shared the punting assignment with Lindberg and his quick-kicks were an important factor in the Illinois victory over Northwestern.

Beynon's responsibility was not only to call signals but to select the plays. This task on a team, which lacked an outstanding running attack, was far more difficult than when a quarterback has a team to pilot, which the opposition fears may spring a running play in a pinch as likely as a pass.

Always cool-headed, never losing his poise in the tensest situation, Beynon probably comes as near to being an ideal quarterback as a coach can hope to find. Perhaps Jack should have called for a place kick earlier in the final quarter of the Michigan game last year but it is easy to make a second guess. Certainly his signaling for a fair catch and calling for a free kick for goal, which narrowly missed success and victory against the Wolverines, was an unusual and smart piece of thinking. Lieut. Gar Davidson, Army coach, on his recent visit to Illinois to arrange for the visit of the Cadets Nov. 3, said he thought this was one of the smartest plays of the season.

Called Best Passer
Coach Davidson also said that Beynon's passing against Army was the best he had ever seen. Coach Happy Kipke of Michigan thought that the Illinois quarterback was a better passer than Barry Wood of Harvard and H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Daily News, wrote that Jack was one of the best passers in the history of the game and one of the three best the Big Ten has developed, the others being Friedman

THE first lighthouse was a conical masonry tower erected by the Province of Massachusetts. It was rebuilt in 1783 and is still in service. The title of the play which Lincoln attended, on the day of his assassination, April 14, 1865, was "Our American Cousins." Name of the first hospital was the Pennsylvania Hospital. ## 'It's a Peach, Mickey' and Newman of Michigan. "Beynon throws so accurately that like Friedman, he looks good even when the pass is incomplete," the Detroit authority said.

Always Quarterback
Beynon has been a quarterback all his playing life, eight years, from the time he reported for the Rockford, Ill., junior high school team on which he called signals two seasons and then moved up to the senior squad for three seasons. He was freshman quarterback at Illinois and became varsity pilot in the last lap of the 1932 campaign when his all-around performances had a great deal to do with the fine finish of the Illini.

James Beynon, an older brother, played basketball, baseball and some football at the United States Military academy and is now an army officer. At one time Jack considered following his brother to the "Point." His father, Dr. James T. Beynon, is a physician and he may study medicine, although he is enrolled in the college of liberal arts and science, majoring in economics. He is above the average as a student and in one "test" quiz last year received the highest grade in his section, 97.

Can Take It
Jack is 21 years old, weighs 162 and stands 5 feet 10 inches. He is well-proportioned and stands up under the toughest going. Probably no Big Ten back played so much last season. He participated in every minute of the Army, Michigan, Chicago, Northwestern and Ohio State games and in most of the Wisconsin game.

Beynon reported late for basketball at the close of the 1932 football season and made the 1933 team. He was again a regular this year. Coach Craig Ruby says he is one of the best floor guards he has had at Illinois. Ruby often holds him out of a game for the opening five minutes, keeping him at his side on the bench. "Beynon's mind clicks like a machine," the coach says, "and after he sits and studies the situation he goes in and often changes the entire complexion of the game."

Beynon is no mean baseball pitcher, they say, but he has never had the time to play. Tennis and golf are his favorite recreations. "Jack is a high-type boy in every particular," says Coach Zuppke, whose opinion is shared by all the other coaches and staff men. His teammates elected him co-captain with Chuck Bennett. Jack is a manly-looking young man with no pretensions to being an Adonis and nothing bothered him so much as a story that he had been selected as the "handsomest" man in the university in a "contest" that was entirely mythical. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

TERRY BATS HIS WAY TO LEAD IN SENIOR LEAGUE

Heine Manush Almost Deposed to Leader in American Loop.

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Bill Terry of the Giants pounded his way up to the National League batting lead during the past week while Heine Manush of Washington, American League leader for many weeks, almost tumbled himself out of first place in the American.

Terry did some heavy hitting to get the better of Paul Waner of Pittsburgh by a wide margin in the seven-day period which ended with yesterday's games.

In contrast, Manush made only four safe blows in 22 trips to the plate and suffered an eleven point drop to .375. His nearest rival, Charley Gehring of Detroit, kept his .371 mark unchanged.

Injury to Tigers' Star's Ankle Has the Team Worried

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The ankle injury Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe suffered in the course of his three-shutout of the Yankees yesterday had the Detroit "Tigers" camp a trifle worried today.

Rowe suffered the injury when his spikes caught on third base in the second game. He was in severe pain but finished the game. When it was all over, an examination revealed the ankle was swollen to twice its normal size.

"How did you ever manage to pitch nine innings?" he was asked.

"You tell me," the youngster replied. "I don't know."

"That's all right," said Charley Gehring, Tiger second baseman. "Next time we'll give you one day rest and break both your ankles. Then you'll pitch a no-hit game."

Salt Lake Driver Claims Over Score of New Speed Marks

Booneville, Salt Flats, Utah, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City racing car driver, claimed at least a score of the world's speed records today, but he believed he could have done better had he not changed his trousers after the first 24 hours of his grueling speed-distance test over the salt beds here.

After posting a mark of 3,053 miles in 24 hours—an average speed of 127.208 miles an hour—Jenkins set out again in his 238-horsepower car in an effort to drive 30,000 miles in 15 days. A burned out clutch, however, forced him to abandon the attempt last night.

"Bad luck hit me when I forgot to take the four-leaf clover out of the pockets of the trousers I wore during the first 24 hours," he commented.

The records Jenkins believed he had broken included the 24-hour mark for 3,053 miles and others for shorter distances.

JACOBS TO GET CHANCE AGAINST BABCOCK TODAY

Can Avenge Defeat at Hands of Rival in Seabright Meet.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs has her chance today to settle a dispute in American tennis circles as to the matter of superiority between the national champion and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles.

They meet in one of the two semi-finals of the 47th national singles championship. Their match should decide whether it was the rain and electrical storm or Miss Babcock's shrewd shot-making that accounted for Miss Jacobs' straight set defeat by her Pacific coast rival in the finals of the Seabright invitation tournament three weeks ago.

Convincing Victories.
Miss Jacobs and Miss Babcock advanced to the penultimate round by virtue of convincing victories yesterday. Miss Jacobs loved with the veteran Elizabeth Ryan to dislodge the loss of only one game, while Miss Babcock put up a courageous, winning fight against Katherine Stammers of England in a grueling, thrill-packed three set struggle, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Little Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., who helped Miss Babcock make the American championship safe from a British challenge by eliminating Fred James, another Briton, engaged Dorothy Andrus, the Stamford, Conn., millionaire's, in the other semi-final encounter.

It marked the first time Miss Palfrey has been able to pass the quarter-final round in a national championship and judging by her play so far it was considered highly
